Democrats Hoist Distress Flag to Wallace 3rd Party

McGrath in Near Plea for Wallace to Abandon His Campaign

Washington, Feb. 19—(AP)—The Democratic national committee raised an out and out distress signal today in the face of Henry Wallace's third party drive.

Chairman J. Howard McGrath said he hopes Wallace will "realize" that he can accomplish nothing but "the defeat of the Democratic party's program of practical liberalism in 1948."

McGrath virtually appealed for abandonment of the Wallace campaign in a radio speech last night.

The address followed McGrath's frank admission that the victory of a Wallace-backed candidate in Tuesday's New York congressional election is a big danger sign for the Democrats.

In the New York race, Leo Isacson, running as an American Labor party candidate with Wallace's support, upset Democrat Karl Propper by a wide margin.

464,000 Signatures

Wallace, on a speech-making tour of the south, gave no indication that he plans to heed any call to "come home, all is forgiven."

Instead he announced at Miami Beach that his supporters have obtained 464,000 signatures on a petition to put his name on the primary election ballot in California. Franklin D. Roosevelt carried the state by only about 475,000 votes in 1944.

Meanwhile the row between national Democratic leaders and party members in the "solid south" flared up again in Washington.

A group of southerners canceled their reservations for the big $100-a-plate Jefferson-Jackson dinners tonight where prominent Democrats will rally around President Truman.

The issue was one which has brought a chorus of rebel yells from south of the Mason-Dixon line in recent weeks: the color line.

Mrs. Olin D. Johnston, wife of the South Carolina senator, said she decided not to attend the dinner "because I might be seated next to a Negro."

Negroes to Attend

She said her party of 45 had dwindled to around 30 because some of the others felt the same way.

McGrath told reporters a dozen or more Negroes planned to attend the two dinners here. He said he could not order any segregation.

Mrs. Johnston called the flareup "symbolic of party leaders' efforts to get minority votes through 'civil rights' proposals that led to threats of a southern bolt."

McGrath showed deep concern over the Wallace threat in his radio address. He said he thinks Wallace himself is "sincere" enough, but added:

"The fact that the loudest applause for Henry Wallace comes from Communists, Communist fellow travelers and reactionary Republicans causes me to believe that the bulk of Henry Wallace's support is coming from those whose

Rail 'Hobo Basket' Aids Polio Fund

Birmingham, Ala., Feb. 19—(AP)—The "hobo basket", answer of three railroaders to the fight against infantile paralysis, is well toward completion today of a 9,600 mile errand.

Already the basket has collected $1,885 for the National Fundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Three clerks in the Southern Railway yard here, R. E. Kinnane, W. M. Hames and C. H. Pate, started the picnic basket on its journey Dec. 22.

Self-addressed postcards were placed in it when it left here aboard a freight train, the basket's only mode of travel. The yardmaster at each terminal along the line fills out one of the cards with the amounted collected and the basket's arrival and departure time.

So far the basket has been passed from the Southern Railway to the Frisco, Rock Island, Chicago & North Western, Milwaukee, Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic and Great Northern roads, with many cities and railroads still on the itinerary.

Last night it was in Williston, N. D. Eventually it will be returned to Birmingham.

America Commies' No. 1 Target Says Committee Witness

Washington, Feb. 19—(AP)—George M. Dimitrov, exiled Bulgarian political leader, said today "American traitors" are being trained right now in Russia for eventual duty in this country.

Dimitrov also told a congressional committee that:

"America is Communist target No. 1."

Under the Red plan of world domination, America is supposed to suffer most and get the cruelest treatment of any nation.

Bulgarian Communists have extended their activity into the United States. He said they have formed organizations and are publishing a Detroit newspaper called "People's Will."

Dimitrov testified to a house un-American activities subcommittee. The committee is gathering information to use in drafting legislation to curb Communists in this country.

Members said one of the things the group wants to find out before it completes its investigation is whether any American labor leaders have lied when swearing they are not Communists. Any leaders who did could be prosecuted and jailed.

Dimitrov said that as soon as the first victories were scored against Germany, Communists began criticizing the United States and Britain, Russia's wartime allies.

He said a Russian representative in Bulgaria told him: "The end of the conflict with Germany means the beginning of another with the western plutocrats. No victory will have been won by us until the heads of the British and American imperialism have been smashed."

TODAY'S WEATHER STORY

Chicago, Feb. 19—(AP)—A new cold wave blew spring's brief preview off the weather map over the northern Rockies and northern Plains states today. It mapped an icy eastward trek over most of the midwest and a sharp drop in temperatures for the aree was forecast by tonight.

Temperatures in some points in Montana fell as much as 60 degrees as the fast-moving mass of cold air and snow roared into the mountain region from northwestern Canada. Some stations in the northern Plains reported the mercury dropped 30 degrees in an hour after the storm struck.

Miles City, Mont., which reported a high of 63 yesterday, shivered in 3 above at midnight and at Havre, Mont., the reading was 4 below after a high of 51 yesterday.

Blizzard conditions prevailed in the Dakotas and in parts of eastern Minnesota, with strong winds and considerable drifting and blowing snow and near zero and below temperatures.

The weather bureau said the storm was headed eastward across the Great Lakes into Ontario. A high of 50 was forecast for Chicago before the storm is expected to strike this afternoon and send the mercury down to 10 to 15 above tonight.

Elsewhere across most sections of the country temperatures continued mild.

New Signs of Life in Investigation of Missouri Vote

Washington, Feb. 19—(AP) —A senate investigation of Democratic vote fraud charges in President Truman's own Missouri stamping grounds showed new signs of life today.

The charges arose in connection with a primary in the Fifth Missouri congressional district in 1946.

These were the developments today:

1. A judiciary subcommittee prepared to question the FBI man who handled the case. He now is a federal judgeship nominee.

2. Senator Kem (R-Mo) predicted that a new investigating committee will take a look at how the justice department dealt with alleged voting irregularities in Kansas City precincts. Kem claims the department "whitewashed" the case.

A grand jury indicted 72 persons, but 66 were freed last Jan. 28 after ballots held for evidence were stolen. The remaining six are awaiting trial.

Not Truman's District

The fifth is not Truman's own congressional district, but he took a hand in the 1946 campaign. He endorsed Enos Axtell for the nomination over Rep. Roger Slaughter. Axtell defeated Slaughter but lost the election to Republican Albert L. Reeves, Jr.

Kem tried to get the senate judiciary committee to investigate the primary last July. He failed when Senator Langer (R-ND) joined Democrats in voting against Kem's proposal. Kem then asked the senate to overrule the judiciary committee. Democrats talked that idea to death in the closing days of the regular session.

Senator Donnell (R-Mo) is chairman of the judiciary subcommittee considering the nomination of Edward Allen Tamm, assistant FBI director, to be a federal judge in the District of Columbia.

Tamm is opposed by the local bar association and a committee of the American Bar Association on grounds that he has never had any trial court experience.

Text of Letter from LeRoy Meyers to Circuit Judge George C. Dixon Last Year Telling Part He and His Father Played in Real Estate Deal

Following is the text of a letter written by LeRoy Meyers to Circuit Judge George C. Dixon last August when the Lee county grand jury was considering charges of conspiracy, operating a confidence game and obtaining money under false pretense against Rep. Lyle M. Prescott and William Meyers and his son, the writer of the letter.

The grand jury returned true bills against the three but the indictments later were dismissed by Judge Harry E. Wheat. However the January grand jury returned similar indictments against the men, the Meyers today entering pleas of guilty before Judge Wheat in Lee county Circuit court.

The letter:

"San Diego, Calif.
Aug. 2nd, 1947.

"Judge George C. Dixon
"Dixon, Ill.
"Dear Judge:

"Enclosed is information we think that you should have.

"Thank you—

Exhibit 21

"On one certain week day morning during the year of 1946, and during the month of August or the first part of September, or approximately thereabouts, our Representative L. M. Prescott, of the 35th senatorial district, or whatever it may be, contacted me and asked me if we still had our licenses to operate as a Real Estate Agency. However this was about the time that I was up an hour or two each day, as previous I had spent around three months in bed with the reoccurance of the rheumatic heart trouble that I had a few years before. However this statement can be checked through the records of Dr. B. G. Nelson, Oak Park, Ill., heart specialist and Dr. E. S. Murphy, at Dixon. Dr. Nelson took care of me at the time I was at the Presbyterian hospital at Chicago. My answer to Mr. Prescott was yes, we still maintained a state license to operate in real estate sales in the state of Illinois, and by this what I could do for him. His answer to me was that if I could keep a deal under my hat, and I said yes, what is it? Now he says as I being a Representative of the State of Illinois, do know that they are seriously interested in a certain tract of land joining the State Game Preserve. In fact he said, I have two deals in mind, but will only tell you of this one at the time and the other a little bit later. He further asked me if I had a plat book of the Lee County farms, which I did have and went to the house and got it. In fact this conversation was at the steps of our front door at our former residence at 719 Brinton avenue, Dixon, Illinois. Now after I handed this plat book to him he turned to Hamilton and East Grove townships, and pointed out, and also marked on this plat book the land in which the State Department of Conservation was interested in purchasing. However I knew there was a Game Preserve somewhere in the County, but before this never knew exactly where it was located. Now the farm in question that he was referring to was owned by Hanson Brothers, so the plat book said. This farm consists of 640 acres of land but he was of the opinion, so he stated to me, that the State Department of Conservation was only interested in one-half of it or 320 acres. Now after this conversation with Mr. Prescott, my answer to him was that our business was real estate and we would see if this farm in question could be bought. However referring to previous statements contained herein above mentioned, his idea, or so he stated to me was that he wanted us to keep quiet to everybody about this was that if any owner of land got the idea the State was interested in buying the land they would raise the price far beyond their reach, and therefore it would be turned down by the Department, and also another reason he stated to me was that he wanted nobody to know he was implicated in buying the land for the State. After this conversation, we, the same day took a drive to the entrance of the Game Preserve, in East Grove Township. However we were informed from Mr. Prescott on just what roads to go to get there by. Now after we got to the beginning of the land where the Game Preserve starts, we figured out to ourselves just what land he had reference to, and proceeded to an adjoining farm to find out just who owned this piece of land and where they lived, as we saw no buildings on the main road. After we stopped at a few places we were informed that the Hanson Brothers did still own it and that Mr. Chas. A. Hanson, who lived on Route 52 between Dixon and Amboy, was the man for us to see, as he was the one who looked after all business transactions, so then still the same day we drove across to route 52 and went to see Mr. Charles Hanson, and upon calling at his residence was informed by his sister Mr. Wolfram that her brother Charles was working in the field at their adjoining farm down the road. We then drove over to the said place and after driving back through the field reached a certain man running a combine. Now not knowing Mr. Hanson, asked this gentleman if he were Mr. Hanson and he said no he was his nephew, but Mr. Hanson was down the field a few rods cutting weeds and thistles, so we went down the field and introduced ourselves to him, and asked if the 640 acres he owned in East Grove Township was for sale. His reply was, yes, that him and his brother Gust had talked about selling it but his sister Della who also had a share in it was not just caring about selling it, although he said she would as he took care of all the business matters of the family since his brother Ralph had passed away a couple of years ago, whom always had taken care of things in the family. He then stated the price would be $100.00 per acre net to them and our Real Estate Commission would have to be added to this price, so before we left we agreed that our asking price would be $110.00 per acre, in order to leave a leaway to bargain with a prospective purchaser. However our commission would have been less than this extra $10.00 per acre but have stated why this was agreed upon by Mr. Hanson and us for. We then left Mr. Hanson with the word that we report to him any further matters pertaining to the sale of this farm. Then we drove back to Dixon and contacted Rep. Prescott and revealed to him the information on the listing of this farm. Now at once he stated to us that it was a few excessive price for the land than the State would pay, but would see what could be done with them on this matter. It was then a short time before we heard anything further from Rep. Prescott pertaining to this deal, but then did tell us we would have to get a lower price on this tract of land or the State would not be interested in it. We however being authorized by Prescott to try and purchase this land for him for the State, told him we would see what could be done on getting a lower figure on it. So we then contacted Mr. Hanson on this matter and told him we felt this farm should be bought for $75.00 per acre, however our saying this to the Hansens was based strictly on the talk from Mr. Lyle Prescott, as he had told us previously to try and buy it for $75.00 per acre. Now the answer from Mr. Charles Hansen was no they couldn't take that offer but would think about a price at $90.00 per acre, but he would have to talk it over with his brother Gust Hanson and his sister Della Hanson, who also held title to this farm. Now it runs for a short time and the Hansens came to the residence of William E. Meyers, 111 East McKinney street, Dixon, Illinois, and wanted to know how we were coming on our prospect with the

2 Near Death from Hydrogen Sulfide

Princeton, N. J., Feb. 19—(AP) —Two persons were reported near death and three others slightly injured today as a result of a storage tank failure which flooded Princeton University's Frick chemistry laboratory with hydrogen sulfide.

A police report earlier had listed the two men as dead. Both were employed by Princeton University as laboratory maintenance men and were overcome while refilling the tank for use in a class demonstration scheduled for the afternoon.

They were John Regan, 49, and Harold L. Sutphen, 26, both Princeton residents. The three others were overcome attempting to pull the maintenance men from the gas-filled storage room.

Mystery

Kansas City, Feb. 19—(AP) —Observers today sought further explanation of a strange "ball of fire", possibly a disintegrated meteor, seen in six states.

The brilliant explosion thousands of feet in the air was observed in Kansas, Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Nebraska and Colorado yesterday.

Oscar Monnig, secretary of the National Meteorological Society, said at Fort Worth, Tex., he felt sure the fire ball was a meteor disintegrating.

Officials of the Chamberlin observatory at the University of Denver, however, could offer no explanation.

Design for "Gateway to the West" at St. Louis Wins $10,000 Prize

St. Louis, Feb. 19—(AP)—A monumental arch nearly 600 feet high to be built of stainless steel on the city's river front is the feature of an architectural design which won a $40,000 prize last night.

The design was one entry in a contest seeking an appropriate memorial commemorating Thomas Jefferson and the Louisiana Purchase.

The arch, to reach 590 feet into the sky, is called "The Gateway to the West" and symbolizes the role St. Louis played years ago in settlement of the area west of the Mississippi.

William Wurster of Cambridge, Mass., chairman of the jury of architects who chose the design, called it "a work of architectural genius." He said the arch is "in the same class with the Washington monument. Elevation would be provided inside to a lookout at the top.

A total of $125,000 in prizes was given to architects and designers who created the five layouts which received consideration.

Creators of the winning design weer Eero Saarinen of Bloomfield Hills, Mich., his wife and three other associates.

The prize-winning design includes sculptural features commemorating seven events in the history of the territory, a museum, two restaurants and a tree-shaded park sloping to the river front.

With the four other finalists it will become the property of the National Park Service and any parts of them may be used by the department of interior in completing the project.

Admit Conspiracy in Sale of Lands to State in 1947

Fined $1,000 Each and Court Costs and Placed on Probation Today

BULLETIN

Judge Harry Wheat this afternoon denied Representative Lyle Prescott's motion for a change of venue from all three judges of this district. His counsel then filed a motion seeking a change of venue from Judge Wheat to Judge Leon Zick of Oregon, which was granted and the latter was being contacted to determine when a hearing could be set.

Rep. Lyle M. Prescott this morning was left alone to face six indictments growing out of two Lee county land sales to the state when William and Leroy Meyers pleaded guilty to four of the indictments in which they were named as co-defendants and were fined $1,000 each and placed on two years probation.

In addition, the letter which Leroy Meyers wrote to Judge George C. Dixon in August, 1946, explaining the way in which they bought 720 acres of Lee county land for the state department of conservation, offered in evidence this morning, branded the Dixon legislator as "the alleged instigator" of the deals.

Meyers' letter charged that Prescott told him that he (Prescott), Livingston Osborne, Sam Parr and a Mr. Sparks were splitting the extra money gained in the deals.

In relating how the Meyerses gained their part, he said "we split up the difference at the direction of Rep. Prescott."

Judge Harry E. Wheat, Freeport presiding in Lee county Circuit court, in ruling on the Meyers application for probation, said he thought that "the public sense of justice would be satisfied if in one of the conspiracy indictments each be fined $1,000 and costs."

Ordered to Pay Costs

On the other indictments in which pleas of guilty were entered he granted two years probation, ordered that they pay all court costs (probably between $300 and $400) and ordered each to post surety bond of $2,000. They must also appear personally in court when ordered to do so, should they be called as state witnesses against Prescott.

Judge Wheat also granted them permission to maintain California residence.

These surprise developments delayed the scheduled hearing on Prescott's motion for change of venue, which Judge Wheat was expected to rule on this afternoon. State's Attorney Morey C. Pires objected to the petition, contending it was not in proper form and did not include the required number of supporting affidavits.

Identifies Letter

Leroy Meyers, called to the witness stand during the hearing on application for probation, occupied it for the major portion of the session relating his version of the parts he and his father played in the land transactions, and identified the letter written by him to Judge Dixon when it was admitted as evidence. (Text of the letter appears in an adjoining column.)

In his testimony paralleling revelations in the letter, he said that he and his father started negotiations with Charles E., Gust and Della Hanson for the sale of 480 acres of land adjoining the state game refuge in the southwestern part of the county at Prescott's suggestion.

He said Prescott asked "if I

Attorney General Faces Questioning

Chicago, Feb. 19—(AP)—A congressional sub-committee which is investigating the paroles of four former Capone gangsters plans to summon Attorney General Tom Clark as a witness.

Clark will be called when the group returns to Washington, Rep. Hoffman (R-Mich), chairman, said yesterday at the conclusion of yesterday's hearing here.

"We want to ask him on what team he's playing," Hoffman said.

Hoffman said the committee had received evidence that the four former Capone hoodlums would not have been granted paroles if the attorney general's department had not withdrawn a second indictment against them.

Thwarted by FBI?

The chairman and Rep. Busbey (R-Ill) also said that the FBI, a branch of the department of justice, "constantly thwarted" the committee efforts to obtain the full FBI report on the paroles.

In Washington, the justice department said the dismissal of the second indictment followed "long established policy and practice" on indictments "growing out of a common set of facts."

The four granted paroles last August after serving one-third of their 10 year sentences are Louis (Little New York) Campagna, Philip D'Andrea, Paul (the waiter) Ricca and Charles (Cherry Nose) Gioe. They were sentenced to 10 year terms in federal prison after being convicted of extorting more than $1,000,000 from the motion picture industry.

Jackpot

Los Angeles, Feb. 19—(AP) —Pay telephones of the Madison and Mutual exchanges acted just like slot machines for awhile.

If you called your girl and her line was busy you couldn't get your nickel back. Nobody could get any money back. This went on for several hours last night.

The telephone company said central office relays controlling coin returns had failed.

But after repairs were made —jackpot! All the money due plopped out at once. Anyone around at the moment played "finders keepers".

Freighter's Crew Relates Story of Near-Starvation

Five and a Half Month Journey Marred by No Food, Narcotics

Oakland, Calif., Feb. 19—(AP) —Even such landlubbers as the cops knew all was not well aboard the freighter Thomas E. Mitchell.

Her bottom was rusty as a bucket. Her insides were dirty. Her sailors peeked through blackened eyes. Some had knots on their heads. They bawled loudly for edible food and their pay.

The 10,000 ton Mitchell (operated by the Prudential Steamship Co. of New York) made this port five and a half months after leaving New York. Dockside said the sailors were punching each other on deck. The Coast Guard visited the ship. It said all was quiet.

But trouble flared again in a bar and one man went to a hospital with a knife wound. Another went to jail. Others told police that narcotics were hidden on the ship. That brought federal agents. They found a small amount of marijuana and a lot of filth.

And they heard this story from crewmen:

The Mitchell laid over a long time in Venice and ran out of fresh food. She picked up a light cargo of fatty untanned hides.

Eat Untanned Hides

In Sardinia she loaded salt for Japan. Monsoons and typhoons buffeted her all the way. She arrived in Japan with no food and only two days' water supply. The sailors said the untanned hides went into the galley.

From Japan the Mitchell sailed for Oakland in ballast. The last

New York Harbor Rocked by Mixing Plant Blast

Bayonne, N. J., Feb. 19—(AP) —An explosion in a grease mixing plant of the Tide Water Associated Oil Co. rocked New York harbor today but resulting flames were extinguished before reaching any of the extensive petroleum works on the waterfront.

There were no reports of casualties.

Firemen brought the blaze under control within half an hour.

RAAF Bomber Crashes, Killing 16 Crewmen

Brisbane, Australia, Feb. 19—(AP)—A Royal Australian air force Lincoln bomber crashed at Amberley, Queensland, airport tonight, killing 16 RAAF crewmen. The ship was on a training flight from Laverton, New Melbourne. It was attempting to make a landing at the airport, which is about 30 miles from Brisbane.

Joins Errant Wife, Date, Shoots Both

Chicago, Feb. 19—(AP)—Police Capt. Herbert Burns said a 33-year-old husband told him he trailed his wife to a date with a married admirer last night, joined them in an evening of drinking and then shot them.

The victims, Mrs. Millie Alamo, 30, and Henry Pagliero, 45, were in serious condition. The wife was shot in the head and Pagliero was shot twice in the neck.

Burns said the husband, Anthony Alamo, an ink maker, came to the station voluntarily last night and gave the following account:

He trailed his wife last night after learning she was meeting Pagliero weekly under the pretense of going out with "the girls."

When she met Pagliero, he got in Pagliero's car with them. They went to a tavern where they drank and quarreled.

They drove back and parked before the Alamo home at 3133 West Congress street. Alamo drew a pistol, stepped to the sidewalk and fired at the two.

Then he called his sister and husband, who accompanied him to the police station.

Antarctic Dispute Dates Back Years; Claims Are Stated

United States Has Made No Claims on Areas in Southern Sea

(By The Associated Press)

Great Britain, Chile and Argentina each claim vast, wedge-shaped slices of territory extending from the South Pole to well north of the Antarctic Circle.

The bases of their claims vary. The claimants cite deeds signed by kings dead for centuries, ancient explorations, geagraphy and, to some extent, "squatters' rights."

Each of these territorial claims overlaps the others. They have existed for years, but now— for the first time—threaten to be the subject of a diplomatic tussle.

Agentina and Chile already have agreed to submit their claims to a bilateral boundary commission sometime in the future to establish definite frontiers. The two Latin American powers on one side, however, and Britain on the other are accusing each other of trespassing.

It still is somewhat of a mystery why these three nations suddenly have taken action after sitting by for years shrugging off the others' claims or making only mild plaints. Each has a naval expedition in or en route to the regions it claims.

It is probable that national prestige is the chief reason why all three now want to re-state and nail down their claims.

Called "Sign of Spring"

A British foreign office spokesman yesterday (Wednesday) laughed off Argentine demonstrations in the Falkland islands as "simply a sign of spring."

This year, he said, both sides are putting more pressure behind their claims. The result is that an old situation suddenly has attracted international attention.

Some Britons think Argentina's demonstrations are political fodder for the coming Argentine congresional elections. One foreign office source said Latin Americans are counting the British empire out and think it is time to pick up the pieces.

The general impression in London is that Chile is pressing her claims to keep them alive.

But a London newspaper said recently Britain does not want to lose her grip on the Falklands because the mineral uranium—a source of atomic energy—is to be found there. Chile believes copper and at least 100 other minerals abound on the land areas within her claim.

Islands Not in Antarctic

The Falkland islands are not in the Antarctic. They lie about 250 miles off the coast of southern Argentina. France took possession of them in 1764 and ceded them to Spain in 1767. In 1771 Spain ceded them to Britain.

With South Georgia, the South Shetlands, the South Orkneys and other dependencies, all administered from the Falklands, they form the most southerly colony of the British empire.

Argentina's claim to the Falklands chiefly is geographic. She says the islands arise from the continental shelf and that under the "doctrine of continuity" she claim all islands off her coast. International law, however, does not fully recognize the doctrine of continuity. Argentina says also the islands belonged to Spain before she freed herself from Spain, wherefore the islands now are Argentine.

Others Stress Claims

Argentina also claims the South Orkneys and says she has maintained a weather station on one of that group since 1904.

Chile claims all the land in her designated slice of territory on the basis of letters patent from Emperor Charles V giving two Spanish explorers power over the entire region below South America. Gen. Bernardo O'Higgins, Chile's first chief of state after she gained her independence from Spain, claimed all these lands.

The claims of all three countries begin at the South Pole and fan out to the north. Britain claims the largest slice—all the territory between 20 and 80 degrees of west longitude and bounded on the north by the 50th parallel.

Chile demands possession of the area lying below South America between 53 and 90 degrees west. Argentina's claim lies between 25 and 74 degrees west.

The United States has made no claims to Antarctic territories despite several American expeditions to the area.

Recent interest in the Antarctic may also have been stirred up by the American naval expedition from January to March, 1947. A task force of 13 ships and 4,000 men investigated approximately 1,700,000 square miles of Antarctic.

Let's Hope Angelo Doesn't Grow too Swiftly in 1948

Washington, Feb. 19—(AP)—Anyone who ever has wrestled with a family budget can sympathize with the U. S. senate.

For the senate had budget problems yesterday.

You know how it is with a family budget. Everything is figured in carefully, scientifically.

And then little Angela suddenly outgrows her shoes, and little Rudolph breaks his glasses.

Shall we let Angela go barefoot and Rudolph go back to squinting? Or shall we wreck the budget?

The senators had this in mind as they decided what this country should spend in the year starting July 1.

Senator Bridges (R-NH), as chairman of the appropriations committee, spoke first.

Spending Too Much?

He said he thinks we're spending too much money.

Bridges introduced a resolution calling for a $37,200,000,000 budget This is $2,500,000,000 less than President Truman has figured this country should spend

Said Bridges:

"I shall do all in my power, using every legitimate device at my command, to eliminate waste and extravagance in this office-laden, bureau-burdened government."

Senator George (D-Ga) got up He said he thinks we're spending too much money.

"But," he said sadly, "the way things are going I believe that by 1951 our budget will reach $47.000,000,000 or $49,000,000,000."

Senator Barkley (D-Ky) got up He said he thinks we're spending too much money.

Barkley Has Ideas

But he didn't think the Republicans actually are saving any cash No, said Barkley, they're just juggling figures.

Senator Myers (D-Pa) got up He said he thinks we're spending too much money.

"But last year," he said "the Republicans had this knight in shining armor that was labeled 'economy' It sallied forth to tilt with government spending."

Who won? According to Myers, it wasn't economy.

But, since everyone wanted to save money, the senate passed the resolution. There wasn't a dissenting vote.

Let's all hope that little Angelo doesn't grow too fast—and that little Rudolph is careful with his glasses.

Fall From Manhattan Bridge Is Not Fatal

New York, Feb. 19—(AP)—Elmer Loeb, 36, Brooklyn, plunged 135 feet from the Manhattan bridge into the East river yesterday and escaped with only a slight case of shock

Loeb was fished out of the water by a passing tugboat. He told police he suffered a dizzy spell while crossing the bridge, leaned against a guard rail, then toppled over.

A Thought for Today

Brethren, pray for us.—I Thessalonians 5:25.

Be not afraid to pray—to pray is right.
Pray, if thou canst, with hope; but ever pray,
Though hope be weak or sick with long delay;
Pray in the darkness, if there be no light.

—Hartley Coleridge.

Red Tape Won't Help

There is a renewal of talk concerning rationing, allocating and otherwise artificially controlling the flow of oil to market. Demands for some such course as this may be made in perfect sincerity. But it is difficult to see just how political controls would better the situation in any way.

Oil has been tight in some areas, though basic needs have been met. Material shortages have made it impossible for the industry to develop new facilities as rapidly as is desirable. Abnormal cold in recent weeks has contributed to the gravity of the problem. And, most important of all, the demand for oil both here at home and in other nations seems insatiable, and has reached levels that no one could have fully anticipated.

These are facts—the kind of facts which are determining the oil industry's policies now, causing it to take every possible step that will get more oil out of the ground, and more usable petroleum products into the hands of consumers. Rationing, price fixing, or any other control would not and could not increase oil output by a single barrel. Only increased output can alleviate the problem. We must have more oil—not more red tape.

Government controls, however well meant and well administered, inevitably act as a brake on initiative. By their very nature they must curtail freedom of action on the part of those controlled. The rules and regulations pile up—and production then goes down.

Under free enterprise, we will get more oil in the shortest possible time.

Past Experimental Stage

The indications from Washington are that Congress will look coldly upon any compulsory medical insurance measure brought before it. There are two obvious reasons why this should be so. First, the cost would run from four to six billions or more a year, and would require another heavy tax on top of all other taxes. Secondly, there is no need for it, due to the remarkable progress made by the voluntary prepayment plans.

There are a great many of these plans in operation, and they vary in detail. But in principle they are all much the same. Their purpose is to make it possible for people to prepare for the expense of an illness by paying small sums at stated intervals—precisely, for example, as one insures against the possibility of fire. The cost is usually only a few dollars a month for an entire family.

Further, the scope of the service has been constantly broadened. The plans had their problems—the usual growing pains that accompany any venture into uncharted waters. There have been financial and administrative difficulties. But these have been solved for the most part with admirable efficiency, and prepaid medical care has definitely passed from the experimental to the firmly established phase.

The work is not done. The goal is to make the service available to every American who desires it. Those who are in closest touch with the plans are convinced that the goal will be reached within a reasonable time. The American people are again proving their ability to solve a real problem voluntarily—and without governmental decree.

As Pegler Sees It

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Superciliously, I thought, the Cincinnati Enquirer dismissed my summary of my newspaper experience in Europe and Washington, which certainly is not sufficient for a claim of statesmanship, I do admit. But how many members of the U. S. congress can match it? How many editors? And how many of those American journalists who can match or outscore me in European experience have remained loyal to the United States? I have known hundreds of them. Most of those who had lived abroad ten years or more despised their own country and us and were consciously devoted to a purpose of summoning the Americans to destroy Germans because the nazis would take none of their impudence, or England and her stuffy ideas on marriage, and building up Russia. I know the type. They would get psychoanalyzed for the usual erotic reasons. They went quaint in little inns, run by comic peasants, the papa an atheist and the mama a buxom nothing. They went canoeing and skiing and bundling on expense accounts and the advantageous exchange. And a lot of them were bums who couldn't cover the hotel run in Des Moines. Two of them got the oriental soul-sickness and became esoteric navel-gazers.

I remember a night in the city room of the Chicago Tribune when James Vincent Sheean, a dear, delicious soul from the Ritz bar in Paris, came through with the story of his wanderings in some place called the Riff.

We were newspaper people, turning out several editions a night, on time. Sheean had been away on a long walk in Africa, on expense account, and his story of Abd-El-Krim was arriving. He and the Paris bureau thought highly of it. We didn't.

We had to inform ourselves who Abd-El-Krim was and I am not sure we were the better for having done so.

Can anybody in the class—not editors, please—tell me quick, who Abd-El-Krim was? And are all those who can't answer forbidden to have any ideas on foreign policy? Now, senators and congressmen, who was Abd-El-Krim?

When Gandhi was shot, Sheean ran on and on about his own pretty, posturing soul. But only three months ago, in New York, he saluted Gerhart Eisler, the dirtiest ingrate and the foulest Communist of them all. Yet our war department made him a colonel of the nuisance corps in the war.

"It should be noted," the Enquirer says, "that Pegler is not a familiar figure in Washington, the fountainhead of our foreign diplomacy. Veteran capital correspondents cannot recall ever having seen him at a state department press conference. Several say they have never seen him at a presidential conference."

No, I am not a "familiar figure" in Washington. I have spent not less than two months a year, in season, in Washington in the last 15 years and my Washington experience dates from the first disarmament conference in Harding's time, but I am not a "familiar figure." Just a freshman, to be sure. But I select my own courses.

I don't run to "press conferences" because mostly they are worse than futile. Roosevelt developed a school of sycophants who asked the questions and closed the show when he wanted it stopped. The same sycophants had abused Hoover for selecting questions to his liking out of the hat, and accused him of loading the hat.

I went to three early Roosevelt conferences. They were all exhibitions, not contests. I had one "intimate" conference with Roosevelt and I never got over my disguest at the smirking wickedness of a man, the president, who sat there and told me that the great CIO riots in Michigan, the vandalism and criminal anarchy, were just multiple disorderly conduct, simple assault and malicious muschief. They were his riots because the CIO was his. His CIO deliberately caused and managed them and they were crimes. Charlie Michelson who was then employed as a lobbyist by Crosley Radio, of Cincinnati, which was asking a priceless boon from the FCC, sat quietly by, paring his nails. Hundreds of lobbyists would have liked desk-room in the president's private office.

I attended a few other press conferences, but never one of Cordell Hull's. Still, I am not a stranger to the state department. On one of my visits, I interviewed Joseph Grew, our ambassador back from Japan, and, next, a major-general in mufti. I thus discovered that our own FBI had been called in to run down Communist spies in our own department of state, planted there by a personage in our own White House.

You don't get that kind of news at press conferences.

Did the Enquirer ever pick up anything about Elliott Roosevelt's gyp loans and his father's swindles, or Henry Wallace's infatuation with an oriental god-man, at a press conference? I am just defending my way of working. I will vindicate it on results against any press conference reporter that the Enquirer nominates.

Supreme Court Is Asked to Clarify Ruling on Marino

Chicago, Feb. 19—(AP)—The United States Supreme court today was asked to elaborate on its recent ruling that Tony Marino's plea for freedom from a life sentence for murder be reheard.

Attorney General George F. Barrett of Illinois asked the high court to issue specific instructions to Circuit Judge William R. Dusher in Rockford as to the exact meaning and intention of its mandate.

Judge Dusher on Monday denied Barrett's motion for immediate release of Marino and his retrial on a murder charge.

Marino has been in prison since 1925. After the Supreme court decision in December, he was brought from Joliet to Rockford, where he is being held pending a new hearing.

Barrett said today in a letter to Judge Dusher:

Letter to Judge Dusher

"In view of your expression of doubt that the Supreme court's opinion and mandate direct the discharge of Marino, I am presenting to the Supreme court a motion for instructions to the Circuit court of Winnebago county."

The Supreme court has ordered the Winnebago county court to rehear Marino's plea for freedom, which it said had been wrongly denied by the Circuit court.

Its mandate to Judge Dusher said: "This cause x x x is remanded to you in order that such proceedings may be had in said cause, in conformity with the judgment and decree of this court x x x as, according to right and justice, and the Constitution and laws of the United States ought to be had."

Barrett argued today that "no proceedings could be 'appropriate' unless such proceedings culminated in the discharge of one whom this court has found to be confined in denial of 'due process of law which the fourteenth amendment requires'."

Weber Now in Death Cell at Stateville

Peoria, Ill., Feb. 19—(AP)—The convicted murderer of a Bradley University student has been placed behind bars in Stateville prison to await execution in the electric chair, scheduled for May 21.

The condemned man, Henry F. Weber, 24, was sentenced Monday by Circuit Judge Henry J. Ingram after a Circuit court jury convicted and fixed punishment at death.

Weber was convicted of shooting Flavel Dean Fueger, 20, when Fueger resisted Weber's attempts to take the student's car Dec. 3. Fueger's body was found in a drainage ditch near Lewistown.

The bodies of eight men listed as missing from the ship when their launch swamped Monday night have not been recovered. Hope of finding any of them was given up yesterday.

Russia Forges Last Link in Treaty Chain

Medical Profession Castegated by Well Known Bishop in Talk

Cincinnati, Feb. 19—(AP) — A "closed union" operated by the medical profession is to blame for a serious shortage of doctors, says Methodist Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam of New York.

The profession, he declared last night, controls the number of students entering medical schools and as a result, the number of physicians in the United States increased only from 120,000 in 1920 to 175,000 twenty years later.

Bishop Oxnam spoke at a session of the annual convention of the National Association of Methodist Hospitals and Homes which opened yesterday.

Senate Group Favors Rationing of Grains To Makers of Whisky

Washington, Feb. 19—(AP) — A Senate banking subcommittee voted 4 to 0 today for rationing grain to whisky makers through Oct. 31.

The subcommittee recommended that the liquor industry be allotted not less han 2,500,000 bushels of grain a month.

An agriculture department official said the industry now is using 6,200,000 bushels a month.

President Truman has asked that grain controls be put back on. They expired Jan. 31.

Says Dissatisfied Are Highest Paid

Chicago, Feb. 19—(AP)—A railroad official testified before a presidential fact finding board today that members of three operating unions seeking higher wages already are the highest paid employes in the railroad industry.

The testimony was prepared to be given by L. W. Horning, New York, vice president of the New York Central system. He was the first railroad witness summoned to testify before the board, which was named to avert a strike originally called for Feb. 1 by the unions representing some 125,000 engineers, firemen and switchmen.

The unions are asking a 30 per cent wage increase. They also are seeking 25 rule changes. Other operating unions representing conductors and trainmen, and the non-operating unions, recently accepted a 15½ cent hourly pay hike.

Unions representatives already have testified before the board. The unions involved are Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen and the Switchmen's Union of North America.

Free Ride For You— on the Freedom Train!

We had a real thrill in Our Town just the other day—when the Freedom Train stopped by!

You've heard about it, of course—an actual train that's touring the country to remind us again what true Democracy means. It carries such Americana as the Declaration of Independence, the Bill of Rights, and other immortal documents that guarantee every citizen his liberty.

A great idea! And from where I sit, we're all riding along with that Freedom Train—right now—by living in a country that protects our individual liberties—whether they apply to our right to vote, to choose our church, to speak our minds, or enjoy a glass of beer with friends.

Only thing is—we've got to prove ourselves worthy of the ride ... by guarding zealously against whatever forces of intolerance encroach upon our American concepts of live-and-let-live, in a free and strong Democracy!

OFFICE Nurse

By Adelaide Humphries

© by Adelaide Humphries; Distributed by NEA SERVICE, INC.

XXVIII

IT was rather nice, Janice decided, being a patient instead of a nurse. It was nice just to lie in a comfortable bed with fresh-smelling linen, with the shades half-drawn and the room filled with flowers.

Of course, she reflected, she should be on her way to Mexico. But this was almost as good. Mexico would keep. Everything would keep. She did not want to do anything or think about anything or anyone for a long, long time.

The nurse, her white skirts rustling, her face lighted up with a cheerful, purposeful smile, popped her head through the doorway to inform her patient, brightly, that she had a visitor.

"But I don't want to—" Janice began, then she saw who the visitor was and said all right. She could not refuse to see Betty Jane. She had refused nearly everyone else, except, of course, her family.

"You mustn't stay long," the nurse warned, ushering Betty Jane in, one finger pressed warningly against her lips. "Our patient is doing nicely, but we don't want to tire her."

"Oh, I won't! I'll only stay a few minutes," Betty Jane promised. She handed the nurse a bundle wrapped in green wax paper that could only be more flowers.

I wonder, Janice thought, if I'll get this many flowers at my funeral. Not that the flowers weren't lovely. But in her present mood Janice was too indifferent to be grateful for them.

Still, she thought, smiling at Betty Jane, she was glad it wasn't her funeral. She was not too indifferent to be glad that she still was alive.

"MY, you look wonderful!" Betty Jane said. But she did not sound as though she meant it.

I must look a wreck, Janice decided. She had not, up until now, cared? She still did not care too much. "How's everything?" she said.

She did not care very much how "everything" was, but it was polite to ask and Betty Jane would expect that much from her.

"Just fine! Just fine!" Betty Jane said. "I know you must be worried, thinking I won't be able to take your place. But honestly, even Miss Willows says I'm doing all right."

"I'm sure you'll do much better than I," Janice said.

"I could never do that," Betty Jane said modestly. "But the office is all I have now. That's one reason I had to come to see you, Janice. I wanted to tell you, only I don't know how. . . ." Her voice faltered, but she managed to go on in a moment. "Don't you be sensible, like I always thought I was. What I mean is, don't you put the office first. If you want to stay away a long time or anything—well, just you do it."

"Thanks," Janice said. She was not quite sure what she was thanking Betty Jane for, but she knew that the other girl was trying to help her. That was why Janice added, "I am going to stay away. As soon as I'm able I'm going to Mexico, for a vacation. And"—it seemed now that Janice was beginning to think, whether she was ready or not—"you can tell Miss Willows something for me, if you will."

Betty Jane said that she would be glad to. She said she was glad Janice was going away.

"I'M not coming back," Janice said. "That's what I want you to tell Miss Willows. And I think she will understand—I think she'll be glad."

"I'm glad, too," Betty Jane said, and then she burst out crying. She managed to stop almost immediately. "I—I'm sorry. I didn't mean to. But—oh, Miss Hilary, please marry that nice young man of yours! If you don't, I just know you'll live to regret it. No man will keep on waiting for a girl forever."

"What makes you think that?" Janice asked.

"My Bill, he up and married someone else." Betty Jane gave an argument that was convincing. "A girl he always said he couldn't stand, too. But I kept him waiting too long; he thought I put my work before him. Common sense and love don't mix at all."

"Maybe you're right," Janice said. "Anyhow I'll think about all that you've said. I'm terribly sorry, Betty Jane, about your young man. Only, truly, I feel sure that he couldn't have been the right young man, and that the right one, for you, will come along some day."

Janice's words and smile were so warm and sincere that they almost convinced the other girl.

"Oh, thank you, Janice," she said, "so very much! I'll try to remember what you said, if you'll remember what I did. But I know I mustn't stay any longer, or say anything more."

She was right, as just then the nurse popped her head through the doorway again to say that the visitor had stayed long enough. "We must not tire our patient."

Miss Minet Wagner, president, called the meeting to order and the program followed immediately. Mrs. Charles Russell presented a talk on the life of Stephen Collins Foster. Following are a few of the main points about the noted song writer's life that were brought out by Mrs Russell.

Stephen was the son of William Barclay Foster, a prominent man in business and politics. He was born in Lawrenceville, Penn., now a part of Pittsburgh, on July 4, 1826, the 10th of 11 children. He started out life as a bookkeeper but later changed to a song writer and composer. He composed some 200 songs, among them being favorites of all times. Foster married Jane McDowell, daughter of a prominent physician, to them was born a daughter, Marion. He soon was separated from his wife and daughter, due to non-support This great composer made a great deal of money but for the most part it went for drink.

This beloved of all composers passed away Jan. 21, 1864 and is laid to rest in Pennsylvania. Many of Foster's works have been saved and are being kept in Pittsburgh Pa.

Mrs. Archie Brown, accompanied by H V. Street, sang the following solos, all works of Stephen Foster, "Beautiful Dreamer," "Come Where My Love Lies Dreaming," "Camptown Races," and "I Dream of Jeannie With the Light Brown Hair." Mrs. Brown also led the group in community singing when they sang the following songs: "Old Folks at Home," "Old Black Joe," and "Suzanna."

Church Speaker Drops Dead After His Talk

Montgomery, Ala., Feb. 19 — (AP)—Henry M. Abele of Birmingham ended an address last night with the words, "May God bless you until we meet again."

As members of the audience congratulated him, he fell to the floor. He was dead.

Abele spoke to the men's club of the First Methodist church on "The Laws of Human Equation."

Great Salt Lake, Utah, is 75 miles long and 35 miles wide.

could keep it quiet", explaining that there was nothing wrong with it, but that it wouldn't look good to a lot of people if he was interested in the transaction.

Made Down Payment

When the deal was closed the Hansons wanted a down payment, he said, but Prescott informed him the state only paid in full at the close of the deal, and, with Prescott's assurances it was all right, they put of a $2,000 down payment.

He said that when the state check to pay for the land came through for $40,080 (the Hansons had agreed to sell for $35,000) they asked how the difference could be explained, and Prescott told them to say that the extra cash was to be used in another deal. The younger Meyers also said he was given a letter by Prescott bearing the signature of Sam Parr, conservation department official, bearing out tha statement. The letter was actually typed by Prescott in his oil company office here, Meyers said.

Regarding the extra $5,080 in this deal, he said: "He got $2,580 out of it, and we got the balance."

Tells of Latta Deal

The Latta deal, he said, also came after they went to see William and Amy Latta about selling 240 acres of land along the game refuge at the suggestion of Prescott.

He said Latta finally agreed to an $18,000 price and that he and his father were to get a $700 commission. The check, he said, came in the amount of $20,040, made out, as in the other case, to the land owners, but he gave a personal check to Lattas and after they endorsed the check he deposited it in is personal account.

He said "we just handled the owners of the farms. All the rest was handled by Mr. Prescott."

Of this deal, he said, Prescott kept $1,040 of the extra $2,040 and they kept the rest. Each of the checks was sent to Prescott, Meyers said.

Tells of Prescott Letter

Meyers also identified a letter which he said came to him from Prescott demanding payment from he and his father. He also said that when he settled with Prescott the latter refused to accept a check, but wanted cash.

Referring to his letter to Judge Dixon, Leroy said "everything I said in there was the truth."

William E. Meyers, father of Leroy, appeared only briefly on the stand, but declared "I know we'd never got into this deal if it hadn't been engineered by Lyle Prescott," and had not "listened to Lyle and the rest of the representatives down there who had a finger in the pie."

Prescott, present during the entire hearing with his attorneys, Mark C. Keller and Charles Davis, Rockford, took notes during the testimony.

Called "Misdemeanors"

John Hall, attorney for the Meyers, said their acts were "just misdemeanors x x x greatly exaggerated in newspapers." He said they were "two people who never made a misstep before."

Judge Wheat dismissed two indictments charging the Meyers with operating a confidence game in the two deals on Hall's request.

Pires, declaring "they deserve punishment", said that although they claim Prescott suggested the deals and demanded and obtained half of "their ill-gotten gains, yet they admit they kept the other half themselves."

"Since no further result could be obtained by the prosecution of the fifth and six indictments, they have been dismissed. It is not necessary to call any witnesses to prove the commission of these crimes nor to prolong this hearing by again stating all the miserable facts of these swindlers. Will Meyers and Leroy Meyers are branded as criminals by their own admission."

On a change of venue, Prescott's attorneys asked time to file additional affidavits when Pires attacked their petition this morning, and were conferring with Pires when court recessed at noon.

Commodity Prices

5 cents a bale lower to 20 cents higher but within a matter of minutes a fair abount of mill buying pulled the range up to 40 to 80 cents a bale above yesterday's close.

The housewife was faced with conflicting price trends at the grocery store.

Butter Prices Vary

New York chains increased butter prices five cents a pound to 89 cents. But a Chicago chain cut its retail tags 6 cents to 83.

Two chains at New York reduced some meats and poultry.

A business bulletin survey indicated the typical New York city housewife is able now to feed a family of five at a weekly cost of $31.15 against $35 a month ago.

Uncertainty and caution appeared to dominate consumers peared to dominate consumers, storekeepers and traders.

sale of their farm, and we told them that our client was holding out to buy at $75.00 per acre, but they did not say yes or no to this offer, so after this we reported their calling on us to Mr. Prescott, as their being in to see us, and wondering about the sale of this farm, and he suggested then that we make a written offer of $35,000 cash for this farm which was made out and signed by Floyd D. Chapman. This was delivered to Charles Hansen by us which Mr. Hansen retained and may still have, but still Mr. Hanson did not say whether they would accept this but, would again talk this matter over with his brother and sister, now it went a short time possibly two weeks. The Hansons again called at the residence of William E. Meyers, III E. McKinney St., Dixon, Illinois wondering if we had any more information or a better offer on this tract of land. Our answer was no that our client was still in the same frame of mind as to what he thought it should be bought for. They again left without saying whether or not they would accept such a figure, but would see us later. We again saw Prescott and revealed to him the conversation we had with the Hansons and he told us that during this span of time he had contacted the State and that the order was signed by the Governor, alloting a certain amount of money, which he did not tell us the amount for the purchase of this land and if we could get the Hansons to agree on such a price as $35,000.00 that he would go ahead and make a deposit and proceed with consumating this deal. We then, a short time later contacted the Hansons and had them sign a written statement, all three, in full satisfaction to sell this certain tract of land for the sum of $35,000.00. This was done by their own free will, as they were the ones who kept coming and wanting to know always how we were coming and if we were going to sell their farm. Now also on this written statement they agreed to pay us a Real Estate commission of $1,000.00. We also have a signed statement by them showing an exclusive listing of this farm of theirs. We then proceeded to the office of Atty. A. H. Hanneken for a contract by and between Floyd D. Chapman and the three Hanson's, however this contract was made in the name of Floyd D. Chapman because the written statement was signed by him therefore the contract was made to him. Now Mr. Hanneken was paid I think $5.00 for a triplicate copy of this contract and gave them to us. We in turn gave same to Prescott. Now comes the time for the down payment. We asked Prescott for this payment and we were informed by him that the State made no down payments, only paid off in full at the time of taking title Well he tried to borrow this money at the Dixon National Bank from Mr. H. O. Lovett, the president, so he told me, and was turned down. Well he tried several different places I was informed, but with no success. Then he said to me, how about you and your Dad making this deposit. Well, this was talked over and by him assuring us that we wouldn't be let down with this deposit on the farm and also saying he knew this deal would go over as it was already signed by Governor Green, then we agreed to put up the deposit out of our own money. So we did and got a signed statement or receipts from the Hansons that they received $2,000.00 on the $35,000 00 sale price, which they were satisfied with. Now previous to this Lyle Prescott told me if we would not get a commission from the Hansons, he would see that the State pay us our regular commission. This all sounded good to us at the time, and I even wanted to give him a sum of $500.00 as a tip which would of came from our $1,000.00 commission on this sale, as I thought he was just throwing some business our way. Now after we made this deposit we went to Rep. Prescott and asked him the next step. He said well you will both have to sign a blank Option, which is now on file at the Dept. of Conservation, made out in typewritten form on Rep. Prescott's typewriter at his Oil Co. office, and we then signed them, but he left the price blank, as we have just referred to, at least he left them this way in our presence. Now I asked him about this and he said I will fill in this as I am not sure just what the figure I can get for the price for sure. This made me somewhat sceptical, but not thinking anything irregular, so let the matter rest as it was, because I had faith in him to do the right thing. Now the next step was that he told us to get listed, if possible was the William Latta farm, which lays next to the Hanson farm on the back. Well we contacted Mr. Latta, in fact William Meyers was the first to go and see Mr. Latta. As he approached him they both, he and his wife, that wait a while and see how Mr. Latta got along with his rheaumatism, anyway he was so stiff he could hardly walk at all, as I recollect this instant. Well this was reported to Rep. Prescott and he said well try it later. Now we asked him just what he had in mind at the begining when he said he had another deal further away. He said well yes, a piece of about 70 acres next to the White Pines State Park. He told us where to find this, so we went out to find the owner. Not having too much luck. We went to the Ogle County Court House and got the legal description and found it belonged to the William Powell Estate. Then driving from Oregon down the Pines road to this place and stopped at the farm and talked to Jo Powell who lives there. Now before this Rep. Prescott told us not to let on who wanted it, as the State tried to buy it before and they asked $425.00 per acre so the State didn't buy. Now he says he would see that we got a commission of $350.00, which is $5.00 per acre, so we done as we was authorized, by Rep. Prescott. We talked to Jo Powell and tried to get the farm listed but he said they were going to sell themselves, but later agreed if we got an offer of $140.00 per acre we could come to see him. However this price was meant for on the whole farm of 304 acres I recall it to be. There were six in all, heirs to this farm. Now Jo said as for him and his brother-in-law, Mr. Sheeley, they would list it right now, but the other heirs were not getting along very good between themselves, but did all agree to $140.00 so again said if we got an offer of that, we could let him know. We went back after we got home and reported to Rep. Prescott. He said well the State wanted the 70 acres bad for an addition to the Pines Park. He said just watch it. However we stopped in to see Jo Powell a few times since this but didn't do any business. He said however I own a 280 acre farm down the road myself, go ahead and sell it, so we showed it to a lot of prospects but never sold it. Then due to my sickness I was in bed for awhile again, and went to the Presbyterian Hospital in Chicago and was there nine days. Then when I got back I was ordered to go to bed. I had nothing to do then but read the papers. One day soon after to my surprise, read an article or ad that the Powell Estate was selling this 304 acre farm at public auction on a certain date. So watching business I immediately called Dad over and told him to contact Rep. Prescott and see about this. Well he said we ought to buy on the sale as the State was very hot for it. So when the sale day came, Dad, it was made out between them that he was to buy it and Rep. Prescott to make the down payment. Well he, Dad, got this 70 acres knocked off to him at $150.00 per acre, just what Rep. Prescott told him the State would pay. However we have an authorized statement from the State Department of Parks and Memorials, signed by Mr. George W. Williams, for us to act as their Authorized Agent to purchase same for them. Now after Rep. Prescott made this deposit of $1,050.00 on this, they came home. We didn't hear much for some time and contacted him later as we saw in the paper that the State had purchased a 70-acre tract next to the Pines Park for $200.00 per acre. Now this got me to thinking about this over, but couldn't get Rep. Prescott to talk about it. Now as I say this made me think he was doing something irregular, but we were in the clear as we were Authorized from headquarters, the Dept. to buy it. Now it went along for a time again while the Atty. General was examining papers, on these deals so it came up to close the Hanson deal first. Now one day we went back to see Rep. Prescott and asked why not close some of these deals, well he said he would phone Sam Parr, which he did, again, and did frequently and tell us in a few days. However, there was very little correspondence from the State to us. Now Rep. Prescott got plenty of correspondence on this matter and lots of phone calls between him and the Department, which most of the time was Mr. Sam Parr, as he told me. So after this one day he found out that the check would be payable to the Hansons, but before this we got the abstract all perfected to the State's requirements. Made a trip to Geneva to iron out some things that needed fixing in the abstract, continued to date and sent to Rep. Prescott at the Abraham Lincoln Hotel at Springfield where he was staying. Then came the opinion from the Atty. General's office the second time Mr. Hanneken wrote us out an answer to this as we hired him to do so, and finally got all objections cleared, so one day Rep. Prescott was sure the check was ready, so he went to Springfield one noon in a hurry to get this check and was chauffeured by Jess McIntyre, the State Policeman. When he got back he said to me, things are going to be held up and couldn't go ahead as the check was to be made out to the Hansens, which he did not anticipate in the first place. Now comes the point where we got light just what going on and saw the irregular parts to this deal, but one must remember our down deposit of $2,000.00 and $1,000.00 on the Latta Deal. Dad and I at the time talked this over very seriously about getting out of this deal but we had $3,000.00 of our own hard earned money and we would of lost it, had we not went ahead. Well he suggested of writing up a letter to the Hansons, and signed Sam Parr on December 16, 1946, which the original he insisted me give him back, but I held this copy that I copied off before returning, which is hereby attached. Now there was $5,080.00 difference on the check and at the time we thought that why for us to give all to him and we do this work for him, so we received $2,500.00 of this and gave him $2,580.00 to him. Now just before this closing of the Hanson deal, so Prescott told me this got Mr. Parr very uneasy on the whole situation, and Prescott also told me, and my writing here is based strictly on his talk, that Rep. Prescott, Livingston Osborne, Sam Parr and a Mr. Sparks were splitting this extra money. Now as I said before I do not know, but could sound very logical to any one that Mr. Parr was given some of this money as Rep. Prescott contacted him very frequently, on the phone and in correspondence on these matters. In fact I was in Rep. Prescott's office several times when he was talking to Mr. Parr on the telephone, and discussing these matters to him which on the face of things looked irregular. Now I am not accusing nobody else, on this matter, but we do know Rep. Prescott was the instigator and authorized us to go ahead and as for these other men named, I will not say, only to subpoena Mr. Parr and ask him questions I have related to herein, and then see the results. Now that finishes the Hanson deal, only we put the Deed on record, as we were told by Rep. Prescott, to do so, but before we done this, the Hansons gave us $38.50 worth of revenue stamps to put on the Deed. Now as Rep. Prescott told us before to be sure and get the extra revenue stamps for the $5,080.00 which would be $5.60 at the rate of $1.10 per thousand. This made a total of $44.10 in revenue stamps which Mr. E. S. Rosecrans put on and cancelled for us. Now after we put this Deed on record, Rep. Prescott asked and was very much concerned whether we had did this, his idea was to make it even up with the purchase price. Then when the deed came back recorded we in turn gave it to Rep. Prescott, but before this the check was and all other material was supposed to come before James Bales who is the assistant Atty. General in Lee County, to settle this matter but Rep. Prescott said I will see that we got the check after he got it and not let Jim Bales see the deal. So a man direct from the State brought the check in person to Rep. Prescott at his Oil Company office as I just happened to be there at the time and saw it, but do not know his name. However, whoever this man was, as I see it was just directed to do this by someone at the office of the State Department. However as I said before that the State Deaprtment never corresponding with us very much but Rep. Prescott a lot as he showed me quite a few and this probably could be check with the copies at the Department files, however a lot of this business was talked about over the telephone. Now we found out at the last minute that this check was for the sum of $4,0080.

This was really a surprise to us, so we split up the difference, at the direction of Rep. Prescott, and be gave us $2,580. This the time also he kept $2,500.00. Now after this check of $4,0080.00 was cashed this money was in cash. Now for the finish of the Latta deal. After the deposit was made by us, for which I have the cancelled check to show, we brought the abtsract to date, which we paid for at the time, and also checking abstract and a few incidentals which we also advanced the money for. Then when the check for $20,040.00 came through, Rep. Prescott gave to us to pay off the Lattas their balance. He told us he wanted a cash sum of $1,040. He would accept no checks as didn't want anybody to later check on him, so we gave the Lattas a check for $16,264.70 for the balance to their agreed price of $18,000.00. We in turn took the state check they indorsed to us and deposited it in the Central National Bank of Sterling, Illinois and gave the balance check against that as aforesaid. Now came the Pines Park 70 acres which Rep. Prescott had already a $1,050 deposit on and we had bought on the day of the sale in our name. He put up another $1,800 in cash, also $1,040 in cash that came from the Latta deal which made a total of $3,890, which he had advanced for this purchase. Now we put up the balance of $6,610.00 to pay off the rest of the purchase price on this 70 acre tract. We then brought the farm which was deeded to W. E. Meyers and Leroy F Meyers. Then a short time later we sold it to the State for the sum of $200 per acre which Rep. Prescott had arranged and the check came to us as we were the owner, for $14,000.00. Now as before Rep. Prescott had $3,890.00 in this farm plus $2,000.00 more that he received from this deal, which makes a total of $5,890.00. Now when we went to pay him this money we insisted on giving him a check but he absolutely refused and wanted the cash. Well then as we wanted to pay him this, left the only thing for us to pay him the cash, so Rep. Prescott, W. E. Meyers, and Leroy F. Meyers drove to Sterling, Illinois and went to get this money from the bank. I went in the Central National Bank alone as he and Dad stayed in the car as per his instruction. I drew out $5,890.00 in large bills from Mr. Wood at the Central National Bank and in turn I had to sign a check on my personal account. Mr. Wood will recall this instance which was on Jan. 30, 1946. It was in large bills, put in an envelope. Then I gave to Rep. Prescott and he counted this sum of money over on the way back to Dixon in the back seat of our car which he was riding. However to make my statement more clear the deed when deeded from the three Hansons went direct to the State of Illinois and omitted Floyd D. Chapman. Another thing after the Lattas brought suit against us Rep. Prescott was called on the phone one certain day by the Atty. George Nickols and was asked by him if he knew anything about this Latta deal and Prescott told me that his reply was to Nickols that he knew us and knew we made the deal for the State but that was all. You can check this statement with Mr. Nickols. Now the Lattas brought suit against us as the Meyers Agency and for the sum of $2,040.00 which later was paid them $2,040.00 plus $200.00. Atty. H. C. Warner charged for I don't know what plus $13.17 for costs, etc. Then the Hansons employed the firm of Dixon, Devine, Bracken and Ryan, to collect $5,000.00 from us which was paid. However Atty. Bracken told me that they even wanted more than this and also the $1,000.00 commission paid to us. Now as, I see this matter truthfully, this money in question, is in the hands of the three Hansons and the Lattas which in my opinion now belonged to the State of Illinois, as we have said before they both signed an agreement of satisfaction, and prices respectfully. Now when the time came to pay this money I contacted Rep. Prescott several times with no success. My mission was I told him we would pay back what extra we got and no more, and he was to pay what he got but he wouldn't listen to this, as he was always going to pay back later but not now. Now as I have said before with getting no satisfaction from Rep. Prescott I thought it no more than my duty to make a trip to Springfield and see Mr. Osborne, Sam Parr, Mr. Sparks. Now before I phoned the Chicago office of Mr. Osborne and found out when he would be in his office at Springfield? He told me and I went down one day after this. Met Mr. Osborne and stated my case. The reason for me going in the first place Rep. Prescott always led me to believe the three men shared along with him in this money. Now this is his talk to me. I don't know as we only dealt with Rep. Prescott. I told Mr. Osborne that we were confronted with this matter and wanted him, Mr. Parr, Mr. Sparks to put back their share along with Prescott and us pay this sum back. Well he snapped at me fairly hard and said, people had better not accuse me of anything. I don't know about the rest of these men. In fact if I am accused of this someone may have a law suit on their hands. I told him I based my talk to him strictly on Rep. Prescotts talk to me. Then he settled down and said if that was the case I will call a conference of Prescott, Parr, Sparks, myself and you and we will see who is who and what is what. He was very much concerned to me. So he set the time for the meeting and I was there first. Then Rep. Prescott came in and talked to Mr. Osborne alone and of course I don't know what their conversation was about. Then we all five went in to his private office and was seated. Mr. Osborne related the story to all of these men which before we never met. Now as he was saying to the five of us about this suit and Mr. Parr spoke up and said to Mr. Osborne, what if they subpeona us. He seemed quite concerned, but Mr. Osborne at once said we haven't anything to do with it. Now as to Mr. Parr's excitement I don't know what, but that is what he said. The other men during the discussion said (Mr. Sparks) I don't know anything about it and Prescott didn't talk much. So the three, Osborne, Parr and Sparks left the room, with just Rep. Prescott and myself there in his office to talk. Rep. Prescott said find out how much it will take to settle and see me. I will see that it be taken care of, so I found out the next day what the settlement was and told him, and he then said you go ahead and pay it and we will take care of you later. At this point it got me angry and I thought to myself, he already took care of us in the wrong manner on getting us into this on his suggestions. So in the mean time Dad (W. E. Meyers) was out in California for his health and I informed him on this through mail so he wrote Rep. Prescott a letter which he also kept a copy, word for word which we now have. His reply was amazing. As I also have the copy attached. Read it. His statements are all false as he said he knew nothing about this case and that he knew the State purchased it and that was all and I again say that his writing is all false. Now he was running the show and using us for a shield. Now he finally woke up and paid all this money back at the settlement date. This was done in the office of Atty. A. H. Hanneken. Our money was paid off in checks which I have one endorsed by Wm. and Amy Latta and H. C. Warner and the other by Chas. Gust and Della Hanson. Now Prescott in his own hand writing, which we have and also a photostat, which shows as I said before in his handwriting that and what money he had coming shown thereon.

One question we don't get clear is how can the Atty? for Lattas, which was H. C. Warner, collect from us this extra $200.00.

Now for verification on how this money was paid over to those former farm owners of the land the State has purchased. Atty. A. H. Hanneken, James Bales, Rob't. Bracken, H. C. Warner and John Devine all know and was there and saw checks and money being paid to these former farm owners. Also attached is receipts which we received and our cancelled checks also. Now we hope you can see where and how we got involved in this deal and by whom, which was Prescott as who authorized us to go ahead on all this matters. Now for the Pines deal this was made in a legitimate and lawful manner as we purchased this first ourselves and then later sold to the State. This statement is true and we have told the truth just how everything was handled.

Chilean President Sets Up Bases on Antarctic Ground

Santiago, Chile, Feb. 19—(AP)—Chilean President Gabriel Gonzalez Videla headed home today after formally setting up two military bases in disputed Antarctic territory—which he called a "land of tomorrow."

The bases were established at Chilean weather stations in defiance of long-time British claims, recently reiterated.

Gonzalez inaugurated the first on Tuesday at the weather station at Port Sovereignty on Greenwich island in the South Shetlands, some 500 miles south of the southern tip of South America.

He dedicated the second yesterday at another weather station, 60 miles to the south, on a peninsula of the Antarctic continent known to Chile as O'Higgins Land and to Great Britain as Graham Land. Bernardo O'Higgins, a Chilean patriot of Irish extraction, was the first chief of staff of independent Chile.

Stirring Ceremony

Dispatches to this Chilean capital told of the ceremony. The Corvette Covadonga anchored among icebergs. The president went ashore with other officials, 20 army cadets, 20 midshipmen and a navy band.

Then, standing amid snow and ice, he said his presence was "one more confirmation of Chile's sovereignty over the extreme south of its national soil." He called the land below South America Chile's by right of "history, geography and law." He said she claimed it by inheritance from the Spanish crown, nearness and occupation.

Gonzalez, whose speech was made public here, ended up by toasting "this land of tomorrow."

"I am sure," he said, "its people will be able to maintain the virility, sovereignty and unity of our territory from Arica to the South Pole." Arica is in northernmost Chile.

Chile, Argentina and Great Britain hold overlapping claims to pie-shaped sections of Antarctica.

Hiked Strike Assessments Favored by ITU Voters

Indianapolis, Feb. 19—(AP)—First returns in the nationwide voting by about 88,000 members of the AFL International Typographical union to increase strike assessments favored the proposal by a wide majority.

In Chicago, members of Local 16, who have been on strike against the city's five major daily newspapers for nearly three months, and Chicago Mailers' union, No. 2, an ITU affiliate, voted more than 10 to 1 to raise the assessment from one half to five per cent of their pay. With 500 votes not counted, a union spokesman said the vote was 3,175 to 314 in favor of the increase.

Cincinnati members of the ITU approved the ten-fold hike in the levy on their members by a vote of 543 to 76. President Lester French of the Cincinnati ITU local said. Yesterday's vote by the members in the 850 locals will be canvassed on March 1, but union headquarters here said incomplete figures may be available before that date.

Business Mirror

New York, Feb. 19—(AP)—So you think your taxes are high?

Well, brother, move over. You have company.

The Missouri Pacific lines says its tax bill has gone up 155 per cent since 1929, while its traffic was only 56 per cent better, its gross operating revenue 53 per cent up, and its gross operating expenses 59 per cent higher.

In 1929 the railroad shelled out $7,557,835 to tax collectors. Last year the take was $19,006,961. The railroad says that's on reason holders of railway common stock are so disappointed when they open dividend envelopes.

The Associated Railroads of New Jersey takes an even poorer view of things in that state.

In 1945, the last year for which it has figures available, the group says railroads paid $20,455,387 in taxes to operate their total of 5,569 miles of track in New Jersey.

In Illinois, with 25,215 miles of track, railroads paid only $19,039,620, says the New Jersey group.

The steel industry, although doing right well just now, thank you, has it's tax plaint, too.

The American Iron & Steel Institute says that during the 12 years 1935-46 the steel industry paid the tax man more than it earned as net profits.

The Institute says tax collectors got $3,737,000,000 from the industry in the 12 years. It puts profits at $2,243,000,000. It averages that out as an annual tax bill of $11,000,000 and annual earnings of $187,000,000.

The way the Institute sees it, steel's "take-home pay" is less than its "withholding tax."

LIBRARY NOTES

February is the month of birthdays, and besides the two famous ones we celebrate, those of George Washington and Abraham Lincoln, there are many other noteworthy anniversaries. February 7th was the birth date of Charles Dickens, the 20th that of Joseph Jefferson, February 22nd was shared with James Russell Lowell and the 27th ushered in Henry Wadsworth Longfellow.

Other historic events taking place in February were the creation of the territory of Illinois, on the 3rd, and the dedication of the Washington monument in our nation's capital, on the 21st.

Boy Scout Day falls on February 8th, the Chinese New Year takes place on our St. Valentine's Day, and Frances E. Willard Day is observed on the 17th.

This being the month of biography, the Public Library has on display several of the recent biographies, both serious and humorous, from Livingston's Last Journey, a drama of actual history, to Main Street Beat, the story of a reporter's amusing experiences in gathering news.

The public is invited to make use of these books, and also other new and readable non-fiction, as well as the latest novels and mysteries.

The United States rents, does not own, the land surrounding the Panama Canal.

Sudden Warm-Up Too Much; Bottles Crack

Baltimore, Feb. 19—(AP) — The recent warm-up in the weather was apparently rapid enough to crack whisky bottles, with a resultant loss of blended rye.

Before the mishap was discovered, the contents had run out of half a dozen bottles that had been standing in a store window through recent cold weather. The high temperature was the only apparent cause.

There were but 140 miles of railroad in the entire United States slightly more than a hundred years ago.

Amboy Speaker

Edward Hampden Paine (above), Michigan City, Ind., realtor, past president of the International Association of Lions clubs will speak Monday in Amboy at Charter Night ceremonies of the newly-formed Amboy Lions club.

John E. Earle, Zone chairman and Dixon Lions club president, will serve as toastmaster at ceremoines during which the charter will be presented by District Governor Harvey L. Shawver.

Mayor Michael Mihm will welcome guests and entertainment will be provided by Lois Robbins and Darlene Shippert, with accompaniment by Maribel Hicks.

Born in Albert Lea, Minn., Paine later moved with his parents to Gary, Ind., later attended the University of Michigan, and has been engaged principally in the banking and private investment fields, real estate and rentals.

WCTU Flays Teaching Veterans to Tend Bar

Evanston, Ill., Feb. 19—(AP)—Teaching veterans to be bartenders is a "dis-service to both veterans and the nation," the president of the Woman's Christian Temperance union said today.

Mrs. D. Leigh Colvin said in a statement she had leaned that the veterans administration is approving schools for bartenders under the GI Bill of Rights.

The bill, she said, "contemplated the use of federal funds appropriated for constructive education or training in the professions and trades which contribute to the welfare of both the individual and nation.

"Teaching young veterans how to mix alcoholic drinks, and in the barroom tactics of handling drunks, does neither.

"It should be discontinued immediately."

Aurora Girls Named To Hold City Offices

Aurora, Ill., Feb. 19—(AP)—Miss Stella Seraphim, 18-year-old brunette, will boss the city government here Feb. 27 when the mayor and other officials step aside for the quadrennial Leap Year celebration.

Miss Seraphim, a secretary for a tool company, polled 6,335 votes in a three-day election of women to the offices. Miss Margaret Benson, 18, received 4,741 votes for second high in the balloting and will serve as city clerk, with Miss Delois Middleton, 18, acting as city treasurer on a third-place vote of 4,452.

Also elected were two girl aldermen for each of seven wards, a police chief, police magistrate, fire chief and other "officials".

In past years, the women have been exacting in "law enforcement" on Leap Year day. Scarcely an eligible bachelor can expect to escape arrest and fine of a box of candy or other delicacy for some violation of new or customary feminine edicts.

Wright Gets St. Charles Training School Job

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 19—(AP)—Arthur E. Wright of Des Plaines formerly with the U. S. Veterans Administration, has been named assistant superintendent of the State Training School for Boys at St. Charles.

Director Cassius Poust of the state welfare department yesterday announced appointment of Wright, who succeeds Charles Reed, resigned.

Eight Former Nazi Officers Convicted of War Atrocities

Nuernberg Court Holds Killing Hostages Is Sometimes Justified

Nuernberg, Germany, Feb. 19—(AP)—Field Marshal Wilhelm List was sentenced today to serve life imprisonment as a war criminal. He was convicted with seven other generals charged with atrocities in the Balkans. Two generals were acquitted.

Seven nazi generals tried with him also were convicted of war crimes. They drew sentences ranging from seven years to life.

It added that hostages may be slain by an occupation force to maintain order under international law. This may be done, however, only if the individuals selected for death bear some relation to the crime committed against the occupation forces, the court ruled. In most cases there was no such relation.

The court held that the right to execute hostages has been recognized as the only way an occupying army can protect itself against partisan attacks.

Murdered Infants, Aged

The defendants were charged with responsibility for killing hostages in Greece, Yugoslavia and Albania. The court lashed Gen. Helmuth Felmy—who received a 15-year sentence—as being responsible for calculated, cold-blooded murder of infants and aged.

But the court ruled that most of the partisans who harried Germans in the Balkans "failed to comply with the rules of war," and thus were not entitled to be treated as prisoners of war with the protection of international law.

The court deplored the "complete failure on the part of the nations of the world" to outlaw the killing of members of a conquered population.

"It is not our province to write international law as we would have it," the decision said. "We must apply it as we find it."

The judgment was read by Judge Charles F. Wennerstrum, a justice of the Iowa supreme court. Some lawyers felt the decision might have bearing in the future on the guerrilla fighting in Greece.

List of Sentences

With the hostage ruling as a preamble, the court meted out these sentences:

List, a grim-lipped Prussian of the old German officers' school, life imprisonment.

Gen. Walter Kuntze, a List army group commander, life.

Gen. Lothar Rendulic, chief of the Second Panzer army, 20 years.

Gen. Wilhelm Spiedel, 20 years.

Gen. Hubert Lanz, 12 years.

Gen. Felmy, 15 years.

Gen. Ernst von Leyser, 10 years.

Gen. Ernst Dehner, seven years.

Acquitted were:

Gen. Hermann Foertsch, chief of the 12th army staff.

Maj. Gen. Kurt Maximilian von Weichs, also indicted in this case, was removed from the trial recently because of a heart ailment. Another defendant, Maj. Gen. Franz Boehme, killed himself last July.

The charges against all the defendants were war crimes and crimes against humanity.

Soviet Papers Play Up 'Labor's' Victory

Moscow, Feb. 19—(AP)—Pravda and other Soviet newspapers prominently published a Tass dispatch today reporting the victory of an American Labor party candidate in a New York congressional election.

The Soviet news agency's dispatch said, "the results of the election are considered a victory for progressive forces and a demonstration of the strength of the movement for a third party."

GOP President Is Necessary: Green

Hillsboro, Ill., Feb. 19—(AP)—Governor Green says election of a Republican president is needed "to save the peace and prosperity" of the United States.

"I do not say the peace and prosperity of the world, although a return to sanity in our national administration probably would do the world more good than all the gold in our treasury," Green told a GOP dinner meeting here last night.

The Republican governor, campaigning for reelection, said the welfare of the American people should be the "sole yardstick" for measuring every American policy.

He said Democratic enthusiasm for the European aid program "is based largely on the hope that it will distract the American people from the record of failure of the New Deal administration to solve the basic postwar needs of our own country."

Socialized Medicine Decreed in Britain

London, Feb. 19—(AP)—A British health ministry official said today the labor government's program of socialized medicine will go into effect July 5 in spite of overwhelming disaproval by doctors.

A doctor's strike against the plan was believed almost certain. The program, enacted by parliament last year, authorizes free medical, dental and hospital service to every Briton.

The British Medical Association announced yesterday that doctors rejected the law in a poll, by vote of 25,340 to 4,084.

The Indian knew the art of making maple syrup long before the coming of the white man, who learned the process from him.

Ex-Foe of John L. Lewis Succumbs

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 19—(AP)—Henry (Harry) Fishwick, former Illinois mine union official who once rebelled against John L. Lewis and tried to oust him from United Mine Workers leadership, died yesterday.

Fishwick, who was president of the Illinois UMW district from 1926 to 1931, succumbed at his home after a lengthy illness. He was 70.

In 1929, when a dispute developed between Lewis and Fishwick, Lewis promptly ordered the district's charter revoked and appointed new officers.

But Fishwick defied Lewis and in a court fight won an injunction preventing the international union president from interfering with the Illinois district.

The anti-Lewis movement of that time, in which Fishwick took a leading part, was climaxed with a 1931 rump convention in Springfield. An international union was established to challenge that headed by Lewis.

Lewis went to court and was declared the rightful head of the UMW. After this defeat, Fishwick bowed out as a union official.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete.

Manhandling of United States Soldiers Basis of Officer's Protest

Seoul, Feb. 19—(AP)—Lt. Gen John R. Hodge today told Russia the manhandling of two American officers in Soviet-occupied North Korea was "an insult to the United States Army."

Hodge is commander of the U. S. occupation zone in South Korea.

He wrote Lt. Gen. G. P. Korotkov, the Russian commander, that he held Korotkov responsible for the incident at Pyongyang Feb. 8.

The Americans were on duty in Pyongyang at liaison officers.

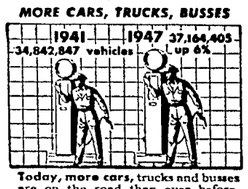
Oil production at record heights but your help still essential

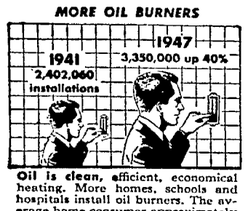
7 REASONS WHY OIL CONSUMPTION IS NOW AT AN ALL-TIME HIGH!

MORE CARS, TRUCKS, BUSSES



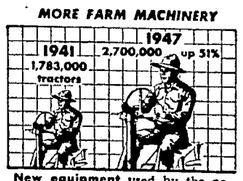
Today, more cars, trucks and busses are on the road than ever before. Huge quantities of fuel and lubricants are consumed daily.

MORE OIL BURNERS



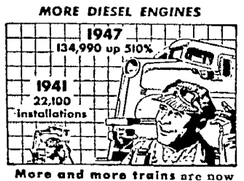
Oil is clean, efficient, economical heating. More homes, schools and hospitals install oil burners. The average home consumes approximately 1750 gallons per year.

MORE FARM MACHINERY



New equipment used by the nation's farmers demands large quantities of petroleum. In the mid-west alone, farm use of oil products has nearly doubled since 1941.

MORE DIESEL ENGINES

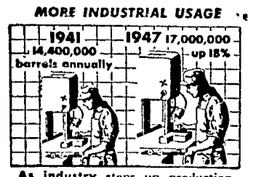


More and more trains are now moved by diesel engines . . . use petroleum products to provide power for the roads of steel.

MORE COMMERCIAL PLANES

Giant airliners consume vast amounts of petroleum. Special fuels and lubricants are required. A four-engine plane uses from 200 to 350 gallons every hour it's in the air.

MORE INDUSTRIAL USAGE



As industry steps up production, demand for heavy fuel oil, industrial lubricants and dozens of other petroleum products grows bigger and bigger.

MORE MILITARY NEEDS

Tremendous quantities of petroleum are required by our Army and Navy. For without petroleum, planes cannot fly . . . jeeps cannot move . . . ships cannot sail.

HERE'S WHY

You Must Save Fuel Oil Now

Unless we all save as much fuel oil as possible, there may not be enough to keep our homes, schools and public buildings warm through the winter.

This is true even though more oil products are being produced and delivered today than ever before! Faced with the greatest demand in history, production is up to new record heights, and crude oil is being rushed to refineries and then to you. But there may not be enough to go around, unless every user saves as much as he can now.

The oil industry is spending over 4 billion dollars to meet your needs. New sources of supply are being uncovered . . . right now we are importing more oil than we are exporting . . . refinery and distribution facilities are being expanded . . . newer, faster methods of transportation are being provided.

But this expansion takes time. The oil industry, like so many others, faces difficulties in obtaining the necessary materials.

Save as much fuel oil, kerosene and gasoline as you can. If everyone cooperates there will be enough for all.

HERE'S HOW

To Save Money . . . Save Fuel Oil . . . Help Stretch the Supply

1. Keep temperature at moderate level—not more than 68 degrees. Turn thermostat to 60 or below at night.
2. Keep doors, windows closed, shades drawn. Close off unused rooms.
3. Install storm windows and insulation to keep heat in . . . cold out.
4. Be sure to have your heating system checked to be sure you're getting the most efficient use of your fuel oil.

If everyone cooperates, the current "pinch" need not last too long. As soon as it is humanly possible, there'll be enough oil for all your needs. And the greater your cooperation the sooner that day will be.

If everyone saves . . . there will be enough for all.

China Must Help Herself Back on Her Shaky Legs

We Can Give Breathing Spell With Aid, But Nothing More

By JERRY KORN

Washington, Feb. 19—(AP)—President Truman has asked congress for $570,000,000 to help China.

That help is needed, he said, because:

"The Chinese government and people are still laboring under the double and interrelated burden of civil war and a rapidly deteriorating economy."

War is nothing new for China. The country has had wars—civil wars and wars against other nations—almost without letup as far back as its history goes.

And its history goes back long before the time of Christ.

First there were a number of small Chinese states. They fought each other until about 200 B C., when they were united by Emperor Shih Huang Ti.

Succession of Rulers

In the centuries that followed one family of rulers came after another—usually by kicking out the family before it—until the 1600s. Then a dynasty called the Manchus took over.

The Manchus lasted until 1911, putting down rebellions and fighting wars against the British and Japanese.

It was that Japanese war that led to the downfall of the Manchus.

It left China so weak other nations began pushing her around. They moved their businessmen and traders in, and treated China almost like a colony.

A revolt against foreigners in 1909—it was called the Boxer Rebellion—was put down by an international army.

Finally, in 1911, there was a nation-wide blowup against the weakened government and the Manchus were tossed out.

Modern Chinese history starts there. The country became a republic, led by Dr. Sun Yat-Sen. But the fighting continued.

Chiang and Dr. Sun

There was an uprising in 1916 against a man who wanted to make himself emperor. After he died, there was civil war between a number of military leaders and the followers of Dr. Sun.

That's where Chiang Kai-Shek, the present leader of the government, comes in.

He was a supporter of Sun Yat-Sen. Sun Yat-Sen died in 1925. But by 1928., Chiang had beaten most of the warlords and controlled the greater part of the country.

He has controlled it ever since, but he has had to fight one battle after another. First against warlords and, later, against Communists

In 1931, the Japanese invaded Manchuria. That started a war which lasted until World war II ended in 1945.

Crippled by Inflation

The Chinese Communists joined in the fight against the Japanese.

But as soon as the war ended, the Kuomintang—which is the party headed by Chiang Kai-Shek—and the Communists began fighting each other.

That's still going on.

President Truman sent Gen. George C. Marshall—now secretary of state—to China in 1946 to try to bring the two sides together. But Marshall was forced to give up after about a year.

To pay for all its fighting, the Chinese government has had to print more and more money. But the more money there was, the less it was worth.

Finally it took more than 200,000 Chinese dollars to equal one American dollar.

So China not only has had to fight the Communists. It has had to fight terrific inflation too.

Must Help Herself

Some people have said this country ought to help the Chinese government fight the Communists by sending in military supplies—the way we are helping Greece

But when Marshall finished his assignment in China he said that country has got to work out its problem itself. He did not blame the Communists alone.

He said the "reactionaries" in the government are also to blame. They are the one, he said, who seem to have counted on American help "regardless of their actions"

Truman didn't say anything about helping fight the Communists. He said China should be given help to buy the things it needs like grain, oil, medicines and machinery.

The idea is to give China a breathing spell in its economic troubles The rest is up to China itself. He said that in these words:

"Nothing which this country provides by way of assistance can, even in a small measure, be a substitute for the necessary action that can be taken only by the Chinese government."

U. N.'s Palestine Commission Faces Formidable Task

Both Sides Girding for All-Out War Over Partition

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The five small countries of the United Nations Palestine commission assigned the task of partitioning the Holy Land between Jews and Arabs, declare the job can't be done without the backing of an armed force.

They want help—and they want it fast! They emphasize "the compelling need for prompt action in order to avert bloodshed and human suffering in Palestine."

As their report is made, fighting is continuing between Jews and Arabs and thus far it is unofficially estimated that more than 1,200 people have been slain in the communal strife Both sides are girding for all-out war. A couple of days ago Abdel Rahman Azzam Pasha, secretary general of the Arab league, warned·

"God only knows where it will end One thing is sure· If we are defeated, the Jews must be prepared for reprisals."

So the "five lonely pilgrims," as the members of the commission call themselves (Czechoslovakia, Denmark, Bolivia, the Philippines and Panama), have laid their urgent report on the line It is the only logical conclusion they could reach. There's nothing new in it; there's nothing that any high-school student shouldn't have recognized from news dispatches over a long period; there's nothing that the United Nations didn't expect, because it was a foregone conclusion

Now it's up to the Big Five to take on where the Little Five are compelled to rest on their arms. There is only one U. N. body which is empowered under the charter to provide an armed force to maintain peace, and that is the security council. The Big Five (America, Britain, Russia, France and China) dominate the council by virtue of their veto privileges. If any one of the five powers doesn't like a proposal, that power can kill the motion by a veto. As a matter of fact the efficacy of the security council itself has been about killed by Russia's constant employment of the veto during her war with the democracies.

Let Reds Move In

Thus the Little Five in referring their troubles to the Big Five may be carrying coals to Newcastle. The Palestine situation certainly will pose a problem for the U. N, despite the fact that for once the Big Five were unanimous in agreeing to partition of the Holy Land The crux of the problem is this:

The concensus of impartial observers is that the Soviet union would be delighted to join in providing armed troops for Palestine, since that would give Moscow a chance to get a military toe-hold in the oil-soaked and strategically situated Middle-East. The last thing America, Britain and France want to see is the emergence of Russia as a power in the eastern Mediterranean.

It's going to be mighty interesting to see how the bickering powers solve this one. What looks like a sound compromise is the suggestion that none of the major powers send troops to the Holy Land but that small countries be asked to furnish the man-power while the big fellows provide the equipment. As a matter of fact, military experts believe that there will be no need for a huge fighting force to maintain peace, but that the trick can be turned by moderate man-power equipped with plenty of war-planes, tanks and other materiel.

However that may be, one of the essentials clearly is speed — and more speed.

Fasting Housewife Finds Hunger Easier

Chicago, Feb. 19—(AP) — A 22-year-old housewife said yesterday that her fast in protest against the high cost of living gets easier by the day.

"Those first few days were about the worst," Mrs. Ruth Berbes said. "Now I don't seem to mind. Not that temptation doesn't stare me in the face. I served my husband roast chicken Sunday."

Mrs Berbes has lost three and a half pounds in the six days of the fast, which she began on Lincoln's birthday.

She allows herself five slices of bread and two glasses of milk daily. Once, she toasted the bread for variety.

The housewife said "I am not doing this for myself but for the thousands of women who don't have a chance to speak out.

"I'm getting letters from some of them I'd like more. I'll try to answer every one."

It is said that 5,000,000 years ago the sun weighed about twice as much as it does now.

The giant cactus lives 100 years or more.

Modern Joan of Arc Given Tips On Cutting Costs

Boyle Tells Chicagoan How He Sliced Cost of Livelihood

By HAL BOYLE

New York—(AP)—One theory of history holds that emergencies produce the heroes to meet them.

Thus a muddy street in England created the legendary deed of courtesy—Walter Raleigh spreading his cloak before the dainty feet of Queen Elizabeth.

Walt acted quickly and cooly to meet this emergency but lost his head later in another one.

From the Crimean war came Florence Nightingale and the development of modern nursing. From the ruins of the 1919 baseball scandal rose a new figure—Big Babe Ruth, who helped rescue the national pastime.

Holland was reported sayed once by a small boy who plugged a hole in the dike with his thumb.

History is full of such examples.

New Joan of Arc

Out in Chicago the present emergency—the high cost of living—may have produced a new Joan of Arc for budget-bothered housewives.

This lady is 22-year-old Mrs. Ruth Berbes, who last week launched a one-woman drive against present food prices by going on a "high cost of living fast." Her passive rebellion began after she was charged 26 cents for a quarter pound of butter.

Mrs. Berbes immediately went on a diet consisting of five slices of bread a day and two glasses of milk. In the first few days she lost three pounds. She said other housewives were taking up the idea, and neighborhood storekeepers were giving her frowns.

Another Possibility

Her program holds many interesting possibilities. If it becomes popular American women will have to put even more padding in their clothing to retain the "new look," and that will probably cost more money than they saved by dieting.

Stingy bachelors will benefit most. They will show up at their girls' houses with a loaf of bread and a bottle of milk and say:

"Let's stay here and enjoy a nice meal at home, Honey. We'll fight this inflation together."

Personally I think Mrs. Berbes is overlooking an even better way to reduce her grocery bills.

She works at a drugstore soda fountain. I did this for two years during high school and found my worries about food costs were at an end.

Boyle Has Formula

When I took the job I weighed an anemic 135 pounds and could hardly muscle up a gallon jug of chocolate syrup. Technically we were supposed to pay for any delicacies we consumed. But with me the public always came first. From time to time I found it necessary to taste a spoon full of ice cream to see that its flavor and consistency were proper for the customers. I also regularly checked the marshmallow, the fudge sauce and the crushed pineapple.

After two years the store manager found that my wholehearted devotion to the public welfare was costing him about one gallon of ice cream out of every five. So he moved me over to the tobacco counter.

But I gained 25 pounds, could hold a case of soap overhead with one hand and tear a Kansas City telephone book in half. I even went out for the high school football team and would have made quarterback except that another fellow tried out for the job that year.

I hadn't bought any meals for months and months, and had money in the bank to start college.

It just takes initiative to whip inflation. If everybody in the country would go out and get a job in a soda fountain they could cut food prices in half within a week.

Illinois Highways Division Retarded by Worn Equipment

Forced to Battle Snow With Pre-War Trucks, Plows This Winter

Snow clearance on Illinois state highways suffered from war time deterioration and post war shortages that hamper rplacement and expansion of facilities, Wesley W. Polk, chief state highway engineer says.

Much of the snow clearance equipment used for winter maintenance of the 14,000 miles of state highways is outworn, and frequently breakdowns during heavy snowfalls seriously hamper snow removal operations, Polk reported.

State's Equipment

He revealed that the state's entire equipment to handle its annual snow burden, which ranges up to 50 inches in extreme northern Illinois, is its year 'round fleet of 1,100 highway maintenance trucks (645 of them of only 1½ ton capacity), each with its attachable blade plow; 800 alternative V-type plows for extra heavy going, and 35 motor patrol graders.

Although the state's busier highways are in the nation's belt of sometimes crippling blizzards, the highway department doesn't own a single rotary plow for bucking heavy drifts as do many state systems, or any mechanical equipment for the spreading of abrasives on icy routes, which plague even the southern part of the state where snow seldom reaches troublesome depth.

Geared To Pre-War Policy

The state is still geared to its pre-war policy of snow clearance, inquiry disclosed. Last year 200 new snow plows were received, as were 110 of the 242 new trucks ordered. But all this acquired and prospective new equipment is only replacement for worn out machinery, Polk said.

"It has not yet been possible to obtain sufficient additional equipment to expand the services to satisfy growing demands of highway users," he declared.

The state's annual expenditure for snow removal and ice control work is from 1 to 1¼ million dollars, depending on the frequency and severity of storms.

Polk said his department's snow fighting preparations start in summer. Equipment is checked and overhauled. Chemically treated abrasives are stockpiled near hazardous points. Snow fences to control drifting are readied and erected. At winter's onset supplementary equipment is spotted according to expected need and arrangements are made to rent additional equipment if necessary.

When snow starts, the maintenance organization in that area is alerted, Polk said. Plow blades are mounted and put into action on the busiest routes first on a round-the-clock basis; if snow depth warrants, V-type plows are substituted for the straight blades. Plowing continues until all state routes are open, he said.

MISNOMER?

The "robins" of North America are actually thrushes, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica. English colonists applied the term "robin," their nickname for the European redbreast, to the American birds.

In Brazil, 400 different species of plants were found in an area of three square miles.

Most bats hibernate in caves during the winter.

Scouts Get Pins While Troop gets $26 Award

Merle Pittman and Eugene Black received Tenderfoot pins last night at the weekly meeting of Scout Troop No. 88.

The troop also received a check for $26 for its part in the January paper drive, and placed the funds in the treasury for use in buying uniforms and paying part of expenses for trips to Camp Lowden. Presentation of the check was by Kenneth D. Abbott, neighborhood commissioner.

harge of Legalistic Jockeying Hurled at Representative Allen

Washington, Feb. 19—(AP)—ven J. Roberts accused Rep. E. Allen (R-Ill) of "legalistic keying" to keep the house m voting on universal military ining.

'It is a travesty of the Ameri- system of representative gov- ment," the former Supreme rt justice told the house rules mittee chairman.

The house armed services com- ttee approved a bill eight nths ago which would require n-agers to take military train- .

The rules committee, which has right to say when a bill will to the house, has kept it bot- d up.

Allen himself opposes the asure. Roberts heads the Na- nal Security Committee, an or- ization of private citizens who or it.

'It was never intended that the rules committee should exercise the power of veto over the action of the other committees of the house," Roberts said in a letter to Allen.

Robbers Abandon Loot In Taxicab in Loop

Chicago, Feb. 19—(AP) — A team of five robbers co-operated yesterday to steal a case of jewelry from a loop store, but the hue and cry forced them to abandon the valuables in a taxicab.

The robbers escaped. Two of them darted into the neighboring Marshall Field & Co., department store where they outsprinted a policeman.

Two of the well dressed team entered Carteaux, Inc., at 31 North Wabash avenue, and asked to see cuff links. Three others then entered. One stood at the door and his companions occupied the remaining clerk. One of the men slipped into the rear room, snatched the leather jewelry case from the open vault and fled through the front door. The rest of the team scattered.

Two of the robbers, one carrying the case, leaped into a taxicab. The cab became snarled in traffic and the men dashed into Marshall Field's There they evaded a traffic officer, William J. Affleck, who had pursued them with drawn pistol.

The cab driver, Philip Cohen, turned the case over to police. Pending an inventory, Leon Carteaux, Sr., estimated its contents at $5 000

Galesburg Farmer is Crushed by Tractor

Galesburg, Ill., Feb. 19—(AP)—Charles Johnson, 51, a farmhand, was found crushed to death between a tractor and hay frame he was using to hawl posts and stumps.

The tractor was on the side of a ravine and Sheriff Charles M. Dahler said he believed it slipped while not in gear.

Johnson had been working on the posts and stumps and the owner of the farm, Mrs Ross Eck, spent the day in Moline. Johnson was not in his room when she returned.

The Eck farm is nine miles northeast of Galesburg.

It is possible to be infected by poison ivy just from the smoke of the burning plant, or from clothing worn a year after contact with the vine.

A steam turbine operates on the same principle as a windmill.
